

New Styles In Men's Neglige Shirts

We have hit the nail on the head in our display of the new styles of spring and summer shirts. That's what most men are thinking about now, new shirts, dressy, soft fronted shirts that are so comfortable to wear in hot weather. They're moving out in a hurry. Something particularly swell at the low price of a dollar. Others on up to $2.50.

SPORTS

The eastern bunch are in or on their own dung-hill and handed a bunch of hot ones to the western contingent yesterday. In fact New Orleans was the only western team to win and Birmingham was of course the team to get trimmed. Atlanta defeated Shreveport, the league leaders and New Orleans by the victory over the Barons is now tied for first place with the Pirates. The two teams will play in New Orleans today and the tie will be broken. Either Fisher or Hickman will work for Shreveport, while Breitenstein or Sorrell will perform for the Pelicans. It promises to be a battle. Nashville licked Memphis in twelve innings and Montgomery turned the trick against Little Rock.

Games throughout all leagues were close, and Savannah, under Wilson Matthews management annexed a double victory from Jacksonville.

Game Today.
An interesting game of baseball is promised the fans who journey to Ft. Barrancas this afternoon. Pensacola and the team at the Fort will play. The game will be called immediately upon the arrival of the 3 o'clock dummy train.

Juniors Won.
The Pensacola High School Juniors defeated the Kugelman team by a score of 19 to 12. The victors have lost only one game out of five played, and that to the St. Aloysius team, who they will play Friday afternoon.

Herra Obatinete.
Pavillon, Los Angeles, May 26.—There was no fight between Battling Nelson, the light weight champion, and Aurelio Herrera here last night as scheduled. After an almost interminable wait of two and a half hours the crowd was dismissed because Herrera refused to weigh in.

Before the crowd of 4,500 was finally eliminated there was a squabble between the fighters and their managers over the weight. Both sides made charges of sharp practices.
The articles of agreement called for the fighters in at 6 o'clock p. m., both men to scale 131 pounds. The men were on hand at the stipulated hour. The scales were out of order and Herrera claimed that they could not be adjusted. After half an hour's argument, Jacobs sent Herrera to dinner. After that he refused to allow the Mexican to weigh in. Nelson offered to go to the baths to weigh in but Jacobs objected.

At the ring side Nelson offered to fight Herrera at 140 pounds, rather than disappoint the crowd.

PENSACOLA HAD NO CHAMPION IN HOUSE

Deep Water City of the Gulf Ignored in Debate Without Challenge Being Offered.

The following communication, which is self-explanatory, has been received from Mayor Bliss:
Editor Pensacola Journal:
The following taken from the Congressional Record of May 3rd will prove interesting to many Pensacolians. It occurs to me that this was an excellent opportunity for some one to say something for Florida and Pensacola in particular. With our 33 feet of water on the bar there seemed to be no one present to inform Congress of the fact and the statement that there was no harbor in Southern waters capable of accommodating a battleship of 28 feet was allowed to go unchallenged.
CHAS. H. BLISS.

No Deep Harbor in the South.
(Congressional Record.)
Mr. Underwood. I would like to ask the gentleman, if we build a ship or ships of the Dreadnought type, how many harbors in this country could that ship enter?

Mr. Foss. Well, it would not be necessary to enter but a few. It could enter New York harbor, if I remember correctly. The harbor will have a depth of 40 feet. Now, the Dreadnought draws 28 feet.
Mr. Underwood. What is the number of feet that this ship that it is proposed to build will draw?
Mr. Foss. About the same.
Mr. Underwood. Then, so far as the southern coast and the Southern Atlantic and Gulf coasts are concerned that ship could not go there at all, it could not protect that coast, because it would have no harbor that it could go in for supplies.
Mr. Foss. That ship would never go into a harbor to protect the coast. That ship would meet the enemy out on the sea and give battle.
Mr. Underwood. It has to have a harbor to go back to in order to obtain supplies. It has to have a base of supplies.
Mr. Foss. Our ships draw nearly 27 feet to-day.

Mr. Underwood. Well, I know, and for a large portion of our coast these ships that draw that much will have no harbor of refuge at all.
Mr. Foss. There would be a few harbors in which the ship—
Mr. Underwood. And on account of the water they draw they could not defend a large portion of our coast line. But does the gentleman think it wise—
Mr. Foss. They would defend outside; they would not defend inside.

Mr. Underwood. Does the gentleman think it wise to enter upon a naval programme to build ships that can not possibly defend at least three-fourths of the coast line of the United States?
Mr. Foss. Well, I do not agree with the gentleman that it is necessary for a ship to be in the harbor to defend the coast line. I hope if we ever enter into a war with any nation that our ships will not remain in the harbor, but that they will go out and meet the enemy.
Mr. Underwood. Unquestionably; but we have got to have a harbor of supply—a harbor to start from.
Mr. Foss. There will be plenty of harbors which this ship can enter.
Mr. Underwood. If I am correctly informed, I do not think there are any in the southern waters.

Mr. Meyer. I would state to the gentleman from Alabama (Mr. Underwood) that New Orleans is one of the harbors which that vessel will be able to enter, although there are now about 28 feet only, and in less than two years, long before this battleship can be completed, she will have from 33 to 35 feet.
Mr. Underwood. I hope that in the course of time we will have much deeper harbors than we have now.

Mr. Meyer. But this work, I will say, is in the course of construction and will assuredly be completed within two years.
Mr. Underwood. Is it not a fact that the commanders of big naval vessels do not like to carry them to New Orleans to-day, even where they have a sunken draft of water?
Mr. Meyer. They do not now, because they regard the channel at Pass as somewhat narrow, but this new channel at Southwest Pass, will be of ample width for any ship in the world. It is not something that is in doubt or in contemplation. It is something that is in the course of construction and will assuredly be completed within the next two years, probably in a year and a half, long before this battleship which is proposed can be completed.
Mr. Underwood. That is only one harbor, and a dangerous harbor for battleships.
